Dear future patients,

It is always hard for me to express who I really am to others in general but I am hoping this message will get to you in some way. My name is Piseth Knight and I am a certified nurse practitioner. You are probably wondering why you should choose me instead of other providers around the blocks. One thing I can tell you about me is that I am a trustworthy person and that I have your interest at best. I do not feel the pressure from my boss to do what I do and I am not here just to collect the paychecks. I work for myself and that allows me to run my own ship. I choose to care for others as a profession because I love caring for others. There is nothing more rewarding than to see you and your families feel better each day and that I have made an impact somehow. So when you choose me as provider, I want you to know that I want to be your provider for life. I want to follow you wherever you go. It is not an inconvenience when you call me at your worst. It is my privilege to be able to care for you and your families using what I have learned and trained. The job does not define who I am, I am just a caring and compassionate person. I want to be the one who holds your hands when you are at your worst and also stand by your side when you are at your best.

I am blessed to be able to stand where I am today and with your help I hope to continue to grow and reach out to more patients in the community who need my help.

My warmest regards,

Piseth Knight, CNP
